

Increased efficiency and safety through integrated services for a major GTL operator in Qatar.

Reduced logistical issues from managing multiple providers and eliminated equipment availability issues.

Challenge

Customer had difficulties managing multiple safety service providers and faced safety equipment availability issues.

Solution

One-stop shop for a comprehensive array of safety services, HSE personnel, breathing air and gas detection equipment, and onsite maintenance.

Results

United Safety received a Certificate of Excellence for the contribution of our employees to their world-class safety performance.

United Safety was engaged by one of the few GTL (Gas To Liquid) players in the world. They needed to solve several logistical challenges derived from sourcing safety services, personnel and equipment from five different providers in order to fulfill their requirements. They also faced safety equipment availability issues that were causing operation delays.

KEY CUSTOMER BENEFITS

Acted as a one-stop shop for all safety requirements

United Safety helped minimize logistical challenges by becoming the single source of all safety services and equipment, including different level of HSE personnel (from safety consultants, to rescue technicians and safety watch personnel), breathing air and gas detection equipment, onsite safety equipment management, and risk management services.

Immediate availability of high quality safety equipment

A local distribution warehouse and the proximity of the Middle East hub in Dubai allowed United Safety to offer readily accessible top-of-the-line equipment, eliminating delays caused by unavailability of safety gear. Standardized inventory also reduced equipment inconsistencies.

Established a relationship based on trust

Earning the customer's trust is a process that involves careful planning and execution of all phases of a project. United Safety carried out needs assessments before any major shutdowns in the customer's facilities, ran a rigorous onboarding program that was audited and approved by the customer for all personnel sent to site, and always picked up the phone, ensuring customer's needs and concerns were always addressed.

RESULTS

Recognized safety performance

The customer awarded United Safety with a Certificate of Excellence in recognition of the tremendous contribution and commitment of the employees working onsite towards helping them achieve a world-class safety performance.
